

DINA N. SENERCHIA

Vice President-Forensic Accounting

New York, New York

(914) 456-9920

dsenerchia@procorllc.com

SUMMARY OF EXPERTISE:

Ms. Senerchia is a Vice President of Forensic Accounting at ProcCor Solutions + Consulting, LLC. She is responsible for the evaluation, quantification, documentation and preparation of Business Interruption/Extra Expense, Property Damage, Casualty and Fidelity Claims. Her experience also includes the examination, analysis, and future financial projections and forecasts in support of litigation in wide variety of industries, including not limited to; hospitality, retail, entertainment, manufacturing, mining, television broadcasting, and financial institutions. Ms. Senerchia specializes in the forensic review and documentation of claims.

RECENT PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE:

BDO Consulting
New York, New York
Manager

Ms. Senerchia was engaged by insureds to assist in the calculation of their business interruption, property damage, and fidelity claims. She has worked on major catastrophes including not limited to; to Hurricane Sandy, Hurricane Irene, Hurricane Ike the earthquake in Santiago, Chile and the earthquake in Christchurch, New Zealand. Ms. Senerchia prepared claims for clients impacted by the Gulf Coast oil spill and also was on the team engaged by the Department of Justice to audit the claims paid by the Gulf Coast Claims Fund.

Meaden & Moore Investigative Accounting & Consulting
New York, New York
Senior Accountant

Ms. Senerchia was engaged by insurance carriers to review and conduct forensic analysis of multi-million dollar insurance claims across all industries for major catastrophes including not limited to; 9-11, Hurricane Katrina, Hurricane Wilma, Hurricane Rita, and Hurricane Charlie. Duties included the review of books and records of insured's for Insurance Companies, in relation to property and business interruption claims and preparation of reports to Insurance Company outlining procedures and findings, in connection with review.

EDUCATION:

B.B.A. in Accounting - 2003
Siena College, Loudonville, NY